

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Chapter 3    Geology, Landforms, and the Origin of Geomaterials    69 3.1    Importance of Geology to Geotechnical Engineering    69 3.2    The Earth, Minerals, Rocks, and Rock Structure    71 3.3    Geologic Processes and Landforms    76 3.4    Sources of Geologic Information    117       Problems    119Chapter 3 Geology, Landforms, and the Origin of Geomaterials 3.1 Importance of Geology to Geotechnical Engineering 3.2 The Earth, Minerals, Rocks, and Rock Structure 3.3 Geologic Processes and Landforms 3.4 Sources of Geologic Information Problems                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 第三章 地质、地貌和地质材料的起源 3.1 地质对岩土工程的重要性 3.2 地球、矿物、岩石和岩石结构 3.3 地质过程和地貌 3.4 地质信息问题的来源                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Chapter 4    Clay Minerals, Soil and Rock Structures, and Rock Classification    122 4.1    Introduction    122 4.2    Products of Weathering    122 4.3    Clay Minerals    123 4.4    Identification of Clay Minerals and Activity    131 4.5    Specific Surface    133 4.6    Interaction Between Water and Clay Minerals    134 4.7    Interaction of Clay Particles    138 4.8    Soil Structure and Fabric of Fine-Grained Soils    139 4.9    Granular Soil Fabrics    147 4.10    Soil Profiles, Soil Horizons, and Soil Taxonomy    150 4.11    Special Soil Deposits    151 4.12    Transitional Materials: Hard Soils Versus Soft Rocks    152 4.13    Properties, Macrostructure, and Classification of Rock Masses    154       Problems    161Chapter 4 Clay Minerals, Soil and Rock Structures, and Rock Classification 4.1 Introduction 4.2 Products of Weathering 4.3 Clay Minerals 4.4 Identification of Clay Minerals and Activity 4.5 Specific Surface 4.6 . Interaction Between Water and Clay Minerals 4.7 Interaction of Clay Particles 4.8 Soil Structure and Fabric of Fine-Grained Soils 4.9 Granular Soil Fabrics 4.10 Soil Profiles, Soil Horizons, and Soil Taxonomy 4.11 Special Soil Deposits 4.12 Transitional Materials: Hard Soils Versus Soft Rocks 4.13 Properties, Macrostructure, and Classification of Rock Masses Problems | 第 4 章粘土矿物、土壤和岩石结构以及岩石分类 4.1 简介 4.2 风化产物 4.3 粘土矿物 4.4 粘土矿物和活性的鉴定 4.5 比表面积 4.6 . 水与粘土矿物的相互作用 4.7 粘土颗粒的相互作用 4.8 细粒土的土壤结构和组构 4.9 粒状土壤织物 4.10 土壤剖面、土壤层位和土壤分类 4.11 特殊土壤沉积物 4.12 过渡材料：硬土与软岩 4.13 岩体的性质、宏观结构和分类 问题 |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Chapter 8 Compressibility of Soil and Rock 345 8.1 Introduction 345 8.2 Components of Settlement 347 8.3 Compressibility of Soils 347 8.4 One-Dimensional Consolidation Testing 350 8.5 Preconsolidation Pressure and Stress History 352 8.6 Consolidation Behavior of Natural and Compacted Soils 357 8.7 Settlement Calculations 364 8.8 Tangent Modulus Method 377 8.9 Factors Affecting the Determination of <math>\sigma'_p</math> 380 8.10 Prediction of Field Consolidation Curves 380 8.11 Soil Profiles 388 8.12 Approximate Methods and Typical Values of Compression Indices 394 8.13 Compressibility of Rock and Transitional Materials 395 8.14 Burland's Intrinsic Compressibility Properties 395 8.15 In Situ Determination of Compressibility 398 Problems 399 Chapter 8 Compressibility of Soil and Rock 8.1 Introduction 8.2 Components of Settlement 8.3 Compressibility of Soils 8.4 One-Dimensional Consolidation Testing 8.5 Preconsolidation Pressure and Stress History 8.6 Consolidation Behavior of Natural and Compacted Soils 8.7 Settlement Calculations 8.8 Tangent Modulus Method 8.9 Factors Affecting the Determination of <math>\sigma'_p</math> 8.10 Prediction of Field Consolidation Curves 8.11 Soil Profiles 8.12 Approximate Methods and Typical Values of Compression Indices 8.13 Compressibility of Rock and Transitional Materials 8.14 Burland's Intrinsic Compressibility Properties 8.15 In Situ Determination of Compressibility Problems | 第 8 章土壤和岩石的压缩性 8.1 简介 8.2 结算组成部分 8.3 土壤的压缩性 8.4 一维固结试验 8.5 前期固结压力和应力历史 8.6 天然土和压实土的固结行为 8.7 沉降计算 8.8 切线模量法 8.9 影响<math>\sigma'_p</math> 测定的因素 8.10 现场固结曲线预测 8.11 土壤剖面 8.12 压缩指数的近似方法和典型值 8.13 岩石和过渡材料的压缩性 8.14 Burland 的固有压缩性能 8.15 压缩性的现场测定 问题 |
| Chapter 9 Time Rate of Consolidation 404 9.1 Introduction 404 9.2 The Consolidation Process 405 9.3 Terzaghi's One-Dimensional Consolidation Theory 407 9.4 Determination of the Coefficient of Consolidation <math>c_v</math> 427 9.5 Determination of the Coefficient of Permeability 432 9.6 Typical Values of the Coefficient of Consolidation <math>c_v</math> 433 9.7 In Situ Determination of Consolidation Properties 434 9.8 Evaluation of Secondary Settlement 435 Problems 442 Chapter 9 Time Rate of Consolidation 9.1 Introduction 9.2 The Consolidation Process 9.3 Terzaghi's One-Dimensional Consolidation Theory 9.4 Determination of the Coefficient of Consolidation <math>c_v</math> 9.5 Determination of the Coefficient of Permeability 9.6 Typical Values of the Coefficient of Consolidation <math>c_v</math> 9.7 In Situ Determination of Consolidation Properties 9.8 Evaluation of Secondary Settlement Problems                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 第九章合并时间比率 9.1 简介 9.2 整合过程 9.3 太沙基一维固结理论 9.4 固结系数 <math>c_v</math> 的确定 9.5 渗透系数的测定 9.6 固结系数 <math>c_v</math> 的典型值 9.7 固结特性的现场测定 9.8 二次沉降评价 问题                                                                                                                                                     |

